Who we are

A full-service business law firm based in Belgrade. In 2017 the competition boutique Gajin Law joined Dokleštic & Partners; since October 2018 the firm, building on the tradition of Dokleštic & Partners and DBP Advokati, practises as Dokleštic Repić & Gajin.

Our clients include leading multinational and domestic corporations, international organisations, business associations and NGOs, as well as investment funds active in the region. International law firms regularly engage us as local counsel for the jurisdictions we cover.

Five principles that define how we work

Art. 01 Premium legal service. We set high standards in providing legal services. Our legal service is far above the market standards.

Art. 02 Business-oriented approach. We do not disregard the financial, strategic, operational and organisational side of a client's business. Many of our lawyers hold degrees from both law and business schools.

Art. 03 Cost-effectiveness. Our business model allows us to deliver results at a reasonable price. We do not overcharge for anything.

Art. 04 Integrity and accountability. We never compromise our integrity, and we always stay independent in our opinion.

Art. 05 Long-term relationships with clients. We build long-term relationships with our clients and look at them as long-lasting business partners.
